Plant and Equipment Depreciation

- ✓ If this is the first year we have prepared your income tax return, please send us a copy of your depreciation schedule from last year's tax return, and also your depreciation report, if you have one.
- ✓ If you have previously lived in the property and this is the first year you have rented it out you should keep any information and photos you have on the whole property's market value for future CGT purposes
- ✓ Don't list below anything you have purchased second hand or used yourself unless this happened before 9th May 2017.
- ✓ If you have stayed in the property at all since 9th May, 2017 we need to know how significant this was. If you were holidaying there then you have lost all your plant and equipment depreciation entitlements for anything purchased before you moved back out again.

Plant and Equipment

- ✓ Items such as carpets, stoves, hot water systems, air conditioners, some light fittings, fans, curtains etc.

Repairs & Maintenance and Improvements

- ✓ Not all improvements are deductible. For example, if the house needed painting when you bought it then painting it would be an improvement, therefore not deductible. On the other hand, if during the time of our ownership the paint starts to peel and you repaint, the expense would be a deduction.
- ✓ No deduction is available for your own labour. The repair needs to be made during a financial year that rent is received. So, take care to perform repairs only when the premises are tenanted or in a period where the property will be tenanted before and after with no private use in the middle (IT180).
- ✓ A repair would be fully deductible if a property is used only as a rental property during the whole year, this applies even though some of the damage may have been done in previous years when the property was used for private purposes (TR97/23). Note, this does not apply if the damage was done in a period you did not own the property.
- ✓ A repair can become an improvement if it does not restore things to their original state (case M60) i.e. replacing a metal roof with tiles. The whole cost of the tiled roof would be an improvement and no deduction would be available for what it would have cost you to put up another metal roof. Note, a change is not always an improvement.
- ✓ In ID 2002/330 the ATO states that the cost of removing carpets and polishing the existing floorboards is deductible. Yet in ID 2001/30 underpinning due to subsidence was considered by the ATO to be an improvement not a repair. It is not necessary to use the original materials to restore the thing or structure to its original state. Modern materials can be used even when these might be a slight improvement because they are more efficient if the benefit is only minor or incidental it can still be considered a repair.
- ✓ Work that replaces the whole thing or structure is an improvement not a repair. So, don't pull down all the old fence and replace it, just replace the damaged area. TR 97/23 recognises that eventually the whole thing or structure may be replaced in a progression of repairs. These repairs are still deductible providing each repair is on a small scale, the progression is over a long period of time and that it is not just in reality a replacement done over time but individual repairs.
- ✓ Tree removal is claimable if the trees have become diseased or infested during the time of ownership. Removal is also claimable if the tree is causing damage such as roots interfering with pipes and the damage was not present when you purchased the property.

Note improvements can increase your cost base for CGT purposes so it is still important to keep the receipt.

T. TRAVEL CLAIMS

- From 1 July 2017, travel expenses relating to your residential rental property are not deductible unless you are carrying on a business of property investing, in which case, please see the Ban Tacs Business Schedule.
- As with prior years, these travel expenses cannot be included in calculations of your capital gain or capital loss when you dispose of the property.
- If your travel expenses relates to your residential rental property and another income producing activity, you will need to apportion the expenses on a fair and reasonable basis.
