If you are using the Small Business Superannuation Clearing House to make superannuation contributions for your employees, you are probably aware that this platform is closing and hopefully you have already made new arrangements. If not please contact us for help. We want to bring your attention to the fact that once this service closes on 30th June 2026 any records you have stored on that system will cease to exist so please make sure you have copies of everything asap.

Julia is back from holidays everyone appears to have gotten by just fine during that time. In her absence the askbantacs and zoom consult facility were taken off line for the month of April. That is all up and running again now and available here

Knockdown Rebuild

This is an absolute must read if you are thinking of knocking down your home. There are so many traps that could cost you thousands. All explained in this blog. <https://www.bantacs.com.au/Jblog/knockdown-and-rebuild-your-home-or-a-duplex-tips-and-traps/#more-2007>

Taxpayer Wins Again On Record Keeping Requirements

The ATO loses its appeal to the high court to try and introduce draconian record keeping requirements on wage earners, that have no backing of law. The poor taxpayer should not have had to go through all this.

Askbantacs

Thanks to our very generous askbantacs member who allowed their Q&A to be posted on our notice board. Very interesting for blended families where the children are only going to inherit half of the house and not until the surviving partner dies.

Getting You Affairs in Order

Do you have all your capital gains tax records recorded in a fashion that can easily be understood by your executor? If not the ATO could be a major beneficiary of your estate.
